“Session on Group Discussion, Word Association and Thematic Appreciation”

Topic :	Session on Group Discussion, Word Association and Thematic Appreciation
Date of event :	11 February,2011
Aim of the Event :	The aim of all education is to ultimately provide the students with excellent jobs. But recruitment is such a process that looks at all aspects of a person’s personality and having a good academic background is not a prerequisite for getting a good job. After all employees do not work in isolation but along with other employees. The aim of running all the above mentioned psychological tests on students was to make them cautious of their own personality traits and behavior. For this reason , a session was organized for the students of MBA I Sem.
Event Report in brief:	The session was a harbinger of all interesting activities such as having a Group Discussion first and then discussing those points on which students always get stuck, such as, how to keep an aggressive participant down, how to add in-between an interactive discussion and points related to body language. The session also had certain interesting activities for the students such as TAT (Thematic Appreciation Test) in which they were shown pictures and were asked to interpret it according to their thinking. They were also exposed to the word association test in which a word would flash on the screen and the students had to think of something related to that word immediately. These activities reflected on the thought process of the students and gave the instructor an insight into their instantaneous thought and after thought.

An aware student is one who tries to improve in all areas and not just academics. In this world, one has to possess good soft skills to navigate through the maze of diplomacy and duality.
