

“Crash Course by MCA Department”

Topic :	A session on Crash course
Date of event :	6 August -23 September ,2011
Aim of the Event :	The term crash course refers to intensive or brief learning. Often however, the term applies simply to a brief introduction to material that will allow one to understand more in depth material. Such brief introductions are usually meant to give a cursory understanding of a topic. A crash course in different subjects like Java ,Unix ,Oracle ,Software Engineering ,Data Communication and Networking ,C Programming ,Data structure and many more subjects were taken by RDIAS faculty members to prepare students for placements.
Event Report in brief:	Crash course in different subjects was planned for MCA V students, to help them prepare for company placements. Each crash course was planned for 2 hrs, which would cover the entire syllabus. To efficiently handle today's business, organizations count on database systems that are reliable and scalable and on experienced professionals to manage them. During crash course, students refreshed the knowledge required to leverage Oracle Database. Java's unique architecture enables programmers to develop a single application that can run across multiple platforms seamlessly and reliably. In this hands-on course, students gained revision with Java and its object-oriented features.

UNIX is a highly reliable multiuser, multitasking operating system for environments ranging from mission-critical clusters and servers to workstations and desktops. It has become the operating system of choice for servers on the Internet. During crash courses students were encouraged to take active participation.

Students appreciated the additional effort put by the faculty members from their busy schedule.

As we continue to grow, expand, and change to meet student and placement company needs, we always remember that every individual student matters and that collectively they are our most valuable assets. That's why our goal is the same today as it was earlier — to provide the best choice in business skills courses with maximum convenience to help — our students — achieve success!
