Session on Presentations

Topic :	Session on Presentations for students of MCA II
Date of event :	January 30, 2012
Aim of the Event	The single most important observation is that the objective of communication is not transmission but reception. The whole preparation, presentation and content of speech must therefore be directed to the audience. The presentation of a perfect plan is a failure if the audiences do not understand or are not persuaded of its merits. These sessions are aimed with an objective of making our students confident enough. Through these sessions, students shed away their inhibitions and get to know about their limitations, so that they can work upon these points leading to their personality development.
Description of the event:	Topics that were covered for the presentation were: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Comparison of social networking sites</li><li>2. Gesture Recognition</li><li>3. Global Positioning System</li><li>4. Grid Computing</li><li>5. Distributed and Parallel Systems</li><li>6. Fiber Optics in Entertainment</li></ol> Out of twelve, ten students appeared for the presentation. All students were judged on following parameters: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Knowledge</li><li>• Communication Skills</li><li>• Content quality</li></ul>

- Body Language & Physical Appearance.

Knowledge coupled with the art of presentation is the key to success not just in interviews but every aspect of work.
