"Freedom to women leading to higher divorce rate"

Topic :	Declamation on " Freedom to women leading to higher divorce rate" by Women Cell RDIAS
Date of event :	April 7, 2011
Aim of the event:	Freedom may be defined as absence of restrictions. It is because of this freedom that individuals may grow for the better or for the worse. The aim of this declamation organised by the women cell was to bring forward recent trends in the society where it has been noticed that at times women are taking undue advantage of the freedom vested in them. Hence, this event was organised for the students of MBA and MCA II Semester.

Description of the event:	This event was witness to an explosive declamation wherein the number of participants was around ten. All the students came forward to express their thoughts, in which it is noteworthy that maximum students in this contest were male students! The students pointed out that with a liberal atmosphere and women becoming a major part of the working class, they have started spending more time out of the house and are exposed to new ideas and concepts of living. This comes across as good but then there are cases where women have started taking freedom to an extent which can be harmful for their married life and society at large. It was a very candid declamation and to say the least very interesting as well!
